New Building Statement

CERTAIN New York banks have provided about one million five hundred thousand dollars on short term notes to finish the Annex Building. This is a practical demonstration of faith in the soundness of the Seamen's Church Institute of New York. It is a demonstration of faith in the vision and generosity of the American people. It is a demonstration of faith in the management.

Our forefathers visioned a great nation founded on faith in the ideals of men. We have been privileged to build into that nation the greatest Institution of its kind in the world, founded on that same faith.

Stand with us between the Old and the New, looking backward and forward. Back to war and post war demands that convulsed our organization in an effort to house a thousand men where we had proper accommodations for only half that number. Could we and would you have had us go back when we were still turning hundreds from our doors nightly?

Was it the part of the Seamen's Church Institute to go back? Was the organization that for eighty-five years had grown in stature with this nation to turn back now; was the society that had played a noble role in time of war to be a slacker in time of peace?

The New Building is the answer of the Board of Managers and your gifts of one million nine hundred and fifty thousand nine hundred and sixty-five dollars are evidence of your approval.

Our task now is to pay off the bank notes. That accomplished we will possess an Institute free and clear and an organization adequate to meet the demands made upon it by the Merchant Seamen in the Port of New York.

The great need for the enlarged Institute and the approval of about two thousand five hundred contributors have justified the undertaking. If you will further "stand by" and others will "lend a hand," then together give one more "heave on the windlass" we will sail on a flood tide unto the haven where we would be.

ANNUAL REPORT

of the

SEAMEN'S CHURCH INSTITUTE OF NEW YORK

FOR THE YEAR 1928

THE eighty-fourth year of the corporate existence of the SEAMEN'S CHURCH INSTITUTE OF NEW YORK, has witnessed the opening of the addition to the building at 25 South Street, doubling its capacity. Before the close of the year three-quarters of the new space was in use. As to the cost of this addition and the balance still to be raised, attention is called to the statement of the Building Committee which precedes this report.

From almost the beginning of the development of modern philanthropic endeavor, the peculiar needs of the sailor ashore have made a legitimate and strong appeal to the citizens of the world's great ports. The response to that appeal finds its culminating and most vivid expression in the life of the Institute on South Street. Here 1500 seamen may find lodging at reasonable cost and the restaurant can provide good food at a minimum price for more than twice that number. Here the sailor's money may be deposited for safekeeping or transmission to his family, his dunnage and mail cared for, and here he may find employment. A clinic, a loan bureau and a merchant marine school are operated. Sailors of almost every race and religion frequent the building, all welcomed in a spirit of Christian friendliness.

Religious and Social Service Department

Fifteen trained men and women of whom five are clergymen constitute the staff in these departments; one of the Chaplains is stationed at Marine Hospital No. 43, Ellis Island; another at Hospital No. 21 at Stapleton, Staten Island, and the other three conduct the work at 25 South Street. Besides holding chapel services and visiting ships and hospitals, this work includes handling about every kind of human and personal problem. These questions range from those having to do with family troubles to such matters as the Immigration and Naturalization Laws, and to the securing of admission to Sailors' Snug Harbor for the aged. An extended correspondence is often conducted in finding a solution. A record of applications for help and advice is kept and the Log shows 51,749 entries for the year, an increase of 17% over the record for the previous year.

Missing men lost to their families and friends are often located through the efforts of the "House Mother." Bulletins containing the names of such men are published and sent to distant parts of the world wherever seamen congregate. During the year the "House Mother" in this effort has had 592 interviews, handled 1,680 cases and succeeded in locating 274 men. By interviews in and about the building, casually and otherwise, she continues the work which justifies her name.

Under the direction of the Social Service Department, weekly lectures of an educational character are given followed by an open forum in which the men take part. Youths in training to become officers under the British or other Merchant Marines, continue to patronize the Apprentice Room. Here a hostess takes a real interest in the problems of the boys and arranges for dances, entertainments and teas, extending a hospitality keenly needed and appreciated by these apprentices.

As more seamen come to the Institute than to any other seamen's home and as a Relief organization has been established, it naturally follows that the Institute does the greater part of the relief of destitution which is administered by seamen's agencies in the port of New York. Through the Welfare Council, a central bureau of which most of the agencies are members, co-operation is sought with other institutions and various problems are discussed. Relief of one sort or another was afforded 23,709 men. All money relief or meals and lodgings is in the form of loans. During the year 1928 the recoveries on these loans was 21% as against 40% of the previous year. The difference is explained by the unusual conditions existing during the first three months of the year. A small revolving secured loan fund is maintained which shows average repayments of over 75%.

Cases of sickness and destitution are handled directly or in co-operation with hospitals and other institutions. Convalescent and general conditions of unemployment are the causes of most requests for help.

Owing to the changes incident to the construction of the addition to the building, a full programme of entertainment and recreation has been impossible. With the opening of the reading and game rooms, and the superb new assembly room with its great organ, this department will be reorganized and developed.

During the construction period, lack of a Chapel or Auditorium has curtailed the number of religious services which could be held. The completion of the new Chapel is a pressing need. The Board is keenly alive to the opportunities which must be found for personal and effective pastoral work, completely of a nonsectarian character.

Hotel Department

During the year 323,669 lodgings were furnished, and by the end of December, 55 officers' rooms, 593 seamen's rooms and 518 dormitory beds were available. Over 500,000 sales were made at the ever-popular soda-fountain, producing a substantial surplus over cost. Barber and Tailor shops are operated.

Baggage Department

During the year a total of 67,970 pieces of dunnage were received and 62,610 delivered. There were 75,149 temporary deliveries for change of clothes and 4,848 extension baggage checks issued, making a total number of pieces handled 210,577.

General Stores

For the economies incident to wholesale purchase, General Stores are maintained with a variety of about one thousand different kinds of merchandise. Here is the Central Receiving Station; approximately 6,800 articles have been handled, checked and delivered to the various departments.

Engineer's Department

Power, refrigeration, heating and lighting plants, elevator, plumbing work, repairs, painting and upkeep are under the charge of a chief engineer. The annual cost of maintenance is surprisingly low.

Post Office

Operation of United States Post Office Seamen's Church Institute Station, space for which is leased by the Institute to the Government at a nominal rental, has relieved the management of a problem heretofore presenting some difficulties. A vast quantity of mail is received and delivered or forwarded and many letter boxes are rented.

Maintenance of Order

As thousands of men visit the building daily, a hotel police force is essential for the protection of our guests. The number of arrests has diminished and the force has been efficient and tactful.

Marine and Other Education

During the year 82 students successfully passed examinations for licenses. First-aid lectures to the number of 346 were delivered by a representative of the Public Health Service and the Principal of our Merchant Marine School gave 91 similar lectures, all with an average attendance of 12 men. In connection with the school,

THE FLOATING CHURCH OF OUR SAVIOUR FOR SEAMEN.
Built by Charles McManis, for the purpose of being used as a floating church, at New York, N. Y., 1843.
Architect, John C. Van Dyke, 110 Broadway, N. Y. City.
The church is now in the possession of the Seamen's Church Institute of New York.

THE FIRST BUILDING OF THE SEAMEN'S CHURCH INSTITUTE OF NEW YORK WAS THIS FLOATING CHURCH BUILT IN 1843 AND MOORED ON THE EAST RIVER AT THE FOOT OF PIKE STREET

THE PRESENT BUILDING OF THE SEAMEN'S CHURCH INSTITUTE OF NEW YORK COMPLETED IN 1929 IS LOCATED ON THE EAST RIVER AT 25 SOUTH STREET

the Institute has several publications, the chief of which is the "Manual of Ship Sanitation and First-Aid" for merchant marine seamen, prepared by the superintendent in co-operation with the United States Public Health Service.

Employment Bureau

Employment was found during the year for 5,040 men, out of 6,251 referred to jobs.

Seamen's Funds Department

Separate deposits of funds to the number of 5,800 were made by seamen from 859 cities or towns, representing 68 countries. The amount received was $508,369.26 of which amount $96,172.69 was transmitted at the direction of the seamen and $412,196.57 held for safekeeping. Money-orders, travelers' checks and so forth to the number of 4,154 were issued.

First-aid by Radio

The Radio Medical Service established on the roof of the building continues its invaluable work with the co-operation of the United States Public Health Service and the Radiomarine Corporation of America. The requests for medical advice come of course, from ships at sea.

Ways and Means Department

Upon the success of this Department must depend the meeting of the annual budget and so the continued service which the Institute must render. Through its efforts contributions are secured which make possible the operation of the Institute. What the sailor pays for his bed and food is, of course, a small part of the annual cost of maintenance. The Department publishes THE LOOKOUT, which month by month is sent to the many friends of the Institute. The Committee was successful in meeting the budget for the past year.

Seamen's Church Institute Associations

Sixteen groups of women in and about New York City meeting through a Central Council render invaluable help in many ways and particularly in giving publicity to our needs. Their activities besides the securing of money contributions include gifts of linen and knitted articles, sewing, and the giving of social affairs in the Institute, hospital visiting and many other forms of service. There has been a remarkable increase in the number of members during the past year and the Board is keenly appreciative of this help.

Obituaries

In concluding this report your Committee desires to record the loss by death during the year of the following loyal members of the Board of Managers. Mr. J. Frederic Tams, Manager 1911-1928, died May, 1928; Mr. Marinus W. Dominick, Manager 1912-1926 Active, 1926-1928 Honorary, died February, 1928; Mr. James Wells Barber, Manager 1916-1928, died February, 1928; Mr. John E. Berwind, Manager 1927 Active, 1927-1928 Honorary, died May, 1928.

The detailed statistics on the following pages are perhaps more tangible than this attempt to survey the work of the year. No one familiar with the work can help feeling a profound sense of its significance and the great Christian and social value of the undertaking. All the friends of the Institute may be assured that they have a part in an enterprise completely worthy of their support.

For their loyal devotion during the year, the Board of Managers is deeply grateful to the Superintendent and his staff.

ERNEST E. WHEELER, Chairman,

LEGACIES TO THE INSTITUTE

The INSTITUTE has been greatly aided by this form of generosity. No precise words are necessary to a valid legacy to the corporation. The following clause, however, may be suggested:

FORM OF BEQUEST

I give and bequeath to the "SEAMEN'S CHURCH INSTITUTE OF NEW YORK," a corporation incorporated under the LAWS of the STATE OF NEW YORK, the sum of ..... Dollars to be used by it for its corporate purposes.

If land or any specific personal property such as bonds, stocks, etc., is given, a brief description of the property should be inserted instead of the words "the sum of ..... Dollars."
